The Belgrade has developed a range of workshops to support teaching and learning in primary schools. Sessions are designed to promote creative engagement and skills development across a number of curriculum areas, including English, Art and Design, History and PSHE.

CREATIVE LITERACY

Working with a text of your choice, the session will use a range of practical drama activities to explore narrative, character and themes.

- Recommended: KS1 & 2
- Duration: 2hrs
- Cost: £120 + VAT

STORY MAKING

Using role play and other practical drama activities designed to stimulate the imagination, learners will generate their own original class story.

- Recommended: KS1 & 2
- Duration: Full day
- Cost: £280 + VAT

THEATRE CRAFT

A hands-on craft making session exploring either costume, props or set. Learners will create their own original designs.

- Recommended: KS1 & 2
- Duration: 2hrs
- Cost: £120 + VAT

All of our workshops can cater for one class at a time. Each workshop has a recommended age range and duration but can be tailored to suit the needs of your class. Bespoke workshops can also be arranged, please contact us for details.
SERIOUS PLAY
Using stories, play and discussion to open up issues of resonance to your class and relevant to the PSHE and Citizenship frameworks. Possible areas of exploration include rights and responsibilities, respecting differences, change and staying safe.
Recommended: KS2

The Belgrade Theatre offers one week work placements to students aged 16 and over. Placements provide either an opportunity to engage with a range of departments across the theatre or, for those with more developed career aspirations, an intensive period with one specific department.

Each year the Belgrade stages Open Doors, a free event designed to provide young people aged 13+ with insight into careers in theatre, particularly offstage roles. Students are given the opportunity to see behind the scenes, meet professionals working in the sector, participate in skills workshops and put their questions to the experts.

The event takes place each autumn, and whilst free to attend, places must be booked in advance.

The theatre offers a range of participatory opportunities to schools and colleges, including a range of workshops. These include literacy and text-based sessions, as well as team-building, theatre craft and PSHE and SMSC workshops.

We also work alongside schools to develop bespoke project work and welcome opportunities to explore STEM subjects using drama methods.
As part of our extended learning programme, Belgrade LifeStage, we offer a range of enrichment and Performing Arts qualifications, using theatre as a tool for learning and personal development.

The programme is ideal for students with an interest in pursuing a career in the arts as well as those who would benefit from working to build confidence and interpersonal skills using practical, drama-based activities.

Belgrade LifeStage will run over the course of the academic year, and students can enrol for the whole year or individual terms. Bespoke versions of these courses can also be delivered. Please contact Hannah Uttley at huttley@belgrade.co.uk for more information about the qualifications on offer.

See behind the scenes and find out more about the work of a professional theatre. Tour packages are tailored to the needs of individual groups and cost from just £3 per pupil. Our backstage tours can also be combined with a workshop or talk by an industry professional.

Do you have a group of first time theatre-goers? Or pupils who find visiting unfamiliar settings a challenge? If so, let us know and we can organise an informal visit ahead of your trip.

The experience offers groups the chance to meet some of the theatre’s friendly faces, orientate themselves in the building and try out their seats before they come to see a show.

The Belgrade offers pioneering education resource packs that are free to schools. These combine full scripts with a series of activities and lesson plans that are designed to support the exploration and delivery of a range of topics including immigration, industry and sexual health.
